

*Sun shines on
Hilton Apple Fest 2007
September 29 and 30*

Nichole Rivers has her hands full dealing with apples from the Zarpentine's Farm Market display.

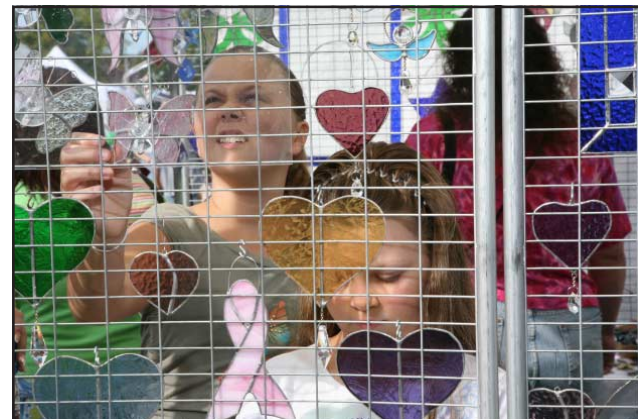

Hard at work preparing Italian sausage sandwiches with peppers and onions for sale by the Hilton Baptist Church was this quartet consisting of Gary Schalge, Andy McComber, Dave Fisher and Seb Burritt.

Those in the long line for Apple Crisp waited for a sample of the five foot diameter pan of the fall favorite. It was sold out in less than two hours on Saturday of the festival.

It's the same old story; if you come to the Apple Crisp stand after 2 p.m. you will find the delicacy sold out!

Ashley and Lynsey Carey, of Brockport, thought the offerings of Heavenly Glass, by Cindy Austin of Liverpool, NY, quite interesting.

Photographs by Walter Horylev

Linda LaGorio and Bonnie Park began dishing out Apple Crisp precisely at noon. The warm weather and the sweet smell of the product brought out a host of bees looking for a taste.

Shannon DeGregorio assists her younger workers: Taylor Pellman, Kelsey Alessi and Taylor Rund, as they place ingredients on pizza shells for the Girl Scout Troop 876 Pizza food stand.

It was "King of the Mountain" time when children found a mound of hay bales to play on. Fortunately this year there was no need for using the hay bales to dry out the grounds as the entire weekend was rain-free and pleasantly warm and sunny.

Photographs by Walter Horylev